

PEACHEY
HARDWOOD FLOORING

The Beauty of Nature. Perfected.

The Peachey Story

doesn't begin with a custom wood workshop in the foothills of the Appalachians. It doesn't start with the skills of local Amish craftsmen creating unique, made-to-order flooring. Our story actually begins in the finest old-growth forests in America.

Which is exactly as it should be for a premium hardwood flooring company.

Because while other manufacturers tell of plastic resins, particle board laminates and photographic finishes, our story is about nature and the remarkable beauty of wood.

It's about forests where Ash, American Cherry, Hickory, Northern Hard Maple, Red Oak, White Oak and Northern Black Walnut grow strong. It's about working with local sawmills to specify how trees are harvested and custom sawn to reveal the unique character that nature provided. And how each board is graded, dried and meticulously transformed to ensure a lifetime of beauty and enduring performance.

A low-angle, wide shot of a dense forest. The camera is positioned near the ground, looking up at the towering tree trunks. Sunlight filters through the canopy, creating a dappled light effect on the forest floor and highlighting the textures of the bark and the vibrant green of the leaves. The composition is filled with vertical lines from the tree trunks, creating a sense of height and depth. The overall atmosphere is serene and majestic.

MOTHER NATURE.

MOTHER NATURE.

PERFECTED.

There was a time

when hardwood floors were made of wood. When they grew in forests and were harvested, milled and graded by hand. Each board beautifully perfected by the time-tested skills of craftsmen

to transform houses into unforgettable homes.

THE PEACHEY DIFFERENCE

Shop around and you'll find there are lots of options for hardwood floors. But look closer, and you'll start to find what sets hardwood floors apart. Why floors that are "good enough" are anything but, and actual quality lies in the craftsmanship that defines long lasting performance and beauty.

At Peachey, this difference begins by harvesting the best trees from America's greatest hardwood forests. Sourcing 90% of our lumber from local Amish mills and working with those mills to create custom cuts and produce boards that are 50% longer on average. Then slow-drying each hand-selected board before they finish in our kilns to ensure a consistent moisture content for greater stability throughout the changing seasons.

Once dried, we precisely mill our flooring for an exact fit board after board to reduce installation times by as much as 20%. Then offer our customers the option to factory finish each order with unique colors and distressing for one-of-a-kind premium heirloom flooring or more affordable selections designed to stand up to the everyday wear of busy families and businesses.

At Peachey, we understand this isn't the way all hardwood floors are created, but here, this is no substitute for doing things right. That's why we stand behind every board we craft with the Peachey Promise - our guarantee of quality, service, beauty and performance.

We invite you to discover the Peachey difference.
